

The book cover features a vibrant, dreamlike illustration. The background is a deep teal color, speckled with numerous small, glowing white and yellow stars. A prominent, bright yellow crescent moon is positioned in the center. Scattered throughout the scene are several large, green lily pads with detailed vein patterns, some of which are partially cut off by the edges of the frame. Interspersed among the lily pads are several large, pinkish-orange lotus flowers with yellow centers. In the lower right quadrant, a young child with long, flowing blonde hair is depicted from an overhead perspective. The child is wearing a white short-sleeved shirt and a green backpack, and is reaching out with their right hand towards a cluster of stars. The overall atmosphere is magical and whimsical, suggesting a journey into a dream world.
